A DAY FOR FRESHMAN

New Students, After Enrolling Tomorrow, Will Be Given Luncheon And A Free Movie.

Everything was made ready for the beginning of the fall quarter at the State Teachers College tomorrow in a meeting of the faculty council of the institution this morning. Committees for the year were appointed and matters concerning programs and curriculum were decided.

Freshment at the college will matriculate tomorrow. This will be known as Freshman Day, and a program including an assembly in the morning, a luncheon at noon, and at night a free trip to the Missouri Theatre for all first-year students will be followed.

Classes for freshmen will start Wednesday morning, while sophomores and upperclassmen are registering for the quarter. These latter students will start classwork on Thursday.

Faculty Members Here.

Practically all of the faculty members have arrived in Maryville. There are still several vacancies to be filled in the faculty, but these will be attended to within the next few days. Letters concerning a number of applicants will have to be heard from before decisions can be made.

Social advisors will be elected by three classes, the sophomores retaining Miss Katherine Franken who served in that capacity for them when freshmen. The business advisors follow: A. H. The committee on intercollegiate athletics again will be headed this year by M. W. Wilson. Other members of the committee are L. M. Eek, C. H. Withington, H. F. Lawrence, P. R. Jones, William L. Mapel, J. W. Hake and T. H. Coook.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass and family returned home Saturday night from an extensive tour of the South and East, where the Rev. They spent Saturday night and yesterday at the home of Mr. Snodgrass' parents at Clarinda and they accompanied them home last night.

Fourth and Dunn Parkway Lighted

Three White Way Poles Are Placed at Intersection Which City Has Beautified

Another step in the beautification of the intersection of Dunn and Fourth streets was completed last week when three white way poles of the latest type were installed at each of the three corners of the boulevard project. These posts are surmounted by a single lamp of the type popular in the cities. The lights were turned on for the first time Saturday night.

The project is complete now except for the planting of more flowers and shrubs this fall and next spring.

TWO CHANGES AT CHURCHES

NEW M. E. SOUTH PASTORS AT RAVENWOOD AND SKIDMORE

REV. MITCHELL STAYS

Pastor of Maryville Church Is Not Scheduled To Go To Church Elsewhere.

Few changes were noted in the list of appointments of pastors for the Methodist Episcopal Churches, South, in Nodaway County which was read last night at the closing session of the Methodist Conference at Columbia, Mo.

Although the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, of Maryville, had not received word of his re-appointment to the church here it is supposed that he will be in this city another year.

The Rev. S. M. Beam has been named to succeed the Rev. F. S. Mathes at the Ravenwood Church and the Rev. Paul K. Holland will be at the Skidmore church for the next year. The addresses of the two new appointees did not appear in the dispatches from Columbia nor is it known here where the present pastors of the Skidmore and Ravenwood M. E. Churches, South, will be next year.

It was learned here today that fourteen pastors in the St. Joseph district had been assigned to churches in other districts.

The Rev. Robin Gould, who has been presiding elder at Richmond, Mo., for the past last four years, was transferred to the St. Joseph district as presiding elder. He succeeds the Rev. C. L. Scarborough, who has been transferred to Richmond, Mo.

It is because only changes in appointments are contained in the press dispatches that it is believed Rev. Mitchell will remain in Maryville during the next year. His name will not appear in the list of pastors who would go to churches other than they have been for the last year.

One of the most important changes, beside that of the change of presiding elders, is the appointment of the Rev. W. E. Potter to the Francis Street Methodist Church at St. Joseph. He succeeds the Rev. John F. Caskey who has been transferred to the Texas conference from which the Reverend Potter comes. Reverend Caskey is one of the best known pastors in St. Joseph having been active in civic and young peoples' work.

Hopkins Man Held for Having Weapon

Pete Carmichael Waives Preliminary And Is Released On Bond Until October Court.

Pete Carmichael, living near Hopkins, was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff William Miles of Hopkins on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Carmichael was brought to Maryville yesterday by Miles.

Carmichael is said to have purchased cartridges at a hardware store in Hopkins and to have loaded his revolver while in that store. Later the revolver was taken away from him. The occurrence took place on Friday, Sept. 3, it is stated.

Carmichael waived his preliminary hearing this morning before Judge J. H. Sayler, justice of peace, and was bound over to the October term of circuit court under a $500 bond, which he gave.

CORN NOW IS 76 PER CENT

CROP IN THIS COUNTY WILL NEED MONTH TO MATURE.

STATE'S CROP BETTER

August Rains Help Greatly, While Pastures Also Improve—Chinch Bugs in Some Sections.

Corn in Nodaway County, after the recent rains, shows, according to reports from farmers, a September condition of 76 per cent of a full crop for this section upon 166,880 acres planted this year, and farmers believe it will require practically the whole month for corn to mature beyond frost danger.

The yield of oats this year averages 25 bushels per acre. The acreage of clover and timothy and mixed hay is 35,420 and the estimated yield is 1.09 tons per acre. Fall forage crops were helped by rains, while pasture is 65 per cent and rapidly improving. Apples are 56 per cent of a crop and 36 per cent of hens are laying.

The 1926 Missouri corn crop from a September condition of 78 per cent of normal forecasts 195,372,000 bushels against 201,338,000 in 1925 which is an improvement of 12,000,000 bushels over the prospect for August 1, according to E. A. Logan of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture. The acreage is 6,825,000 or same as in 1925.

Crop Two Weeks Late.

August rains helped Missouri corn and prospects have improved since August 1, in all sections, except the northwestern, north central and western counties, where shortage of moisture continued during most of the month. The crop is two weeks late and has not made up for the spring delay. Late corn has been helped everywhere and most in eastern and central counties, while some of the fields in the southern counties were too far gone when rains came. Some corn is poorly filled, due to lack of moisture at proper time. The crop is maturing slowly and replanted and late corn will require practically all of September to fully mature beyond frost damage. Chinch bugs have been harmful in north Missouri.

The 1926 oat crop is poor, both in yield and quality, with a larger acreage mown for hay or not threshed for grain than for several years. The indicated yield is 20 bushels upon 2,137,000 acres or 42,740,000 bushels, against 47,922,000 last year. Most fields show low yields and light weight except in an occasional locality having good oats. Spring wheat threshings indicate 165,000 bushels against 112,000 last year; barley 162,000 bushels against 155,000 last year; and buckwheat 15,000 compared to 14,000 in 1925.

Missourfi tame hay acreage is only 2,619,000 acres from which 2,640,000 tons have been harvested compared to 3,753,000 in 1925. Nearly all sections report light hay crop of fair quality but recently damaged in stack by heavy rains in some localities. First cutting of alfalfa was fair and third crop good in most counties except in the northwestern section. Prairie hay indicates 111,000 tons against 112,000 last year, with light yields in western counties, having the bulk of the state acreage. August rains have made fine improvement in soybeans, cowpeas, sorghum, sudan, millet and most alfalfa crops. Pastures in 1926 have been poor and made but little improvement during August in northwest and north central counties while showing good growth in balance of state with promise of fine fall pastures.

Garden Crops Suffer.

Garden crops suffered severely during July and August, but have improved. Potatoes indicate 6,850,000 bushels against 5,016,000 last year, with heavy shipments from the Orrick district. Sweet potatoes are 700,000 bushels against 570,000 last year. Sorghum cane 82 per cent normal forecasts 1,925,000 gallons from 24,000 acres against 1,672,000 last year. Broom corn yields 585 tons against 600 last year. Quality of crop lowered by drouth. Tobacco 4,503,000 pounds from 5,000 acres compared to 5,075,000 last year. Cotton lost in prospect during last half of August and now indicates 228 pounds of line per acre from 473,000 acres or 225,000 bales against 294,000 last year.

Apples 56 per cent normal or 4,760,000 bushels against 4,100,000 in 1925 of which 595,000 barrels is commercial against 646,000 last year. Peaches 63 per cent of normal, indicating 1,500,000 bushels compared to 870,000 last year. Pears 65 per cent or 464,000 bushels against 342,000 in 1925. Grapes 87 per cent of full crop or 8,265 tons against 5,760 last year and are excellent in most counties.

August rains improved Missouri crops. Fall forage and feed crops were greatly helped. Clover seed generally filled well. Most crops show effects of summer rains coming in spots and streaks. Mosquitoes are bad in southeast counties and flies have cut down milk flow in other sections. Month was too dry for plowing in some counties but preparations for wheat seeding are going forward, although delayed by heavy rains lately.

KANSAS FLOOD MORE SERIOUS

WALL OF WATER RUSHES DOWN UPON OTHER TOWNS.

BURLINGTON ASKS AID

Seven Are Known Dead in East Central Part of State.—Relief Fund Started.

Kansas City, Sept. 13.—With telegraph and telephone communication to eastern central Kansas points badly crippled or demoralized and trains running hours behind schedule or tied up due to washouts, the flood areas at Burlington, Iola, Emporia and Neosha Falls, Kan., had assumed a more serious aspect today.

Southeast Kansas tonight faced a great damage as a wall of water that took a toll of seven known dead and did millions of dollars of damage yesterday and today in Central Kansas is rushing down upon Chanute, Coffeyville, Parsons and towns in northeastern Oklahoma.

Grave fears were expressed for towns and villages along the Neosho River. National guard units were being called out in various towns along the Neosho, Cottonwood and Verdigris rivers, which are rising at the rate of from one to two feet per hour.

Emporia, Kan., Sept. 13.—Seven dead is the known death toll in eastern central Kansas as flood waters receded this afternoon. Three were reported drowned yesterday. Three unidentified bodies were recovered this afternoon near Madison and Russell Scott of Russell, Kan., drowned today when trying to ford a stream.

Burlington, Kan., Sept. 13.—Mayor W. B. Wingett of this city today appealed to surrounding cities for financial aid. Further damage has been reported today from flood waters. Damage is likely to run into a high figure.

Kansas City, Sept. 13.—A relief fund for stricken Kansas towns was started today by the Kansas City Chapter of the American Red Cross following advices from various Chambers of Commerce telling of the need in Kansas towns.

Greek Dictator's Fate Is Still Uncertain

Strongest Supporter Leaves Athens After Declining to Sign Government Promulgation Order

Athens, Sept. 13—The position of General Kondylis, prime minister and virtual dictator of Greece, appeared extremely uncertain today.

Kondouriotis, reckoned as one of his strongest supporters, left Athens this morning after declining to sign the official promulgation which the government had intended to issue following the artillery battle in Athens which resulted in the death of thirty and the wounding of one hundred.

A demand was made upon Kondylis by the leaders of the chief political parties of the country that he retire from office immediately. He replied that he was willing to resign providing the cabinet of affairs agree to certain conditions which would insure a stable government for Greece. Kondylis also asked that all party leaders agree on the make-up of the cabinet and to pledge good order.

To Attend College Here.

REDS TIE FOR FIRST PLACE

ST. LOUIS LOSES TO BOSTON WHILE CINCINNATI WINS.

ENDS IN 14TH INNING

Cardinals Take Early Lead, Only To Let Tail-Enders Come From Behind.—Pirates Lose.

Today's Standings.

St. Louis	82	60	.577
Cincinnati	82	60	.577
Pittsburgh	79	62	.560

Boston, Sept. 13.—St. Louis was forced to share first place in the National League today when the Cardinals lost a fourteen-inning struggle to the lowly Boston Braves by a score of 5-4. It was the third defeat for the league leaders in their four games with the tail-enders.

Sherdel started the game for the Cardinals and Wertz for Boston. Both pitched indifferently but a pitchers' battle ensued when they were replaced by Alexander and Benton. It was Benton's second triumph in the series.

A single by Taylor, a sacrifice by Benton and another single by Cooney broke up the game in the last half of the fourteenth.

The Cards opened with two in the first and added two more in the fourth inning when Douthit hit a home run with one runner ahead of him.

Boston slipped over a run in the third inning and in the sixth touched Sherdel for four safeties which resulted in two runs. The tying run came in the eighth when Sherdel walked one man, hit another, and a third singled. With this run across, Sherdel was replaced by Alexander. Werts had given way for a pinch hitter in the preceding inning and was succeeded by Benton.

The game went along serenely until the twelfth, when the Cards filled the bases on a walk and two infield hits. Coming up with none out, Manager Rogers Hornsby hit into a double play and Bottomley popped out.

Again in the thirteenth the Cards put runners on first and third, but Alexander went out for the third out.

The game by innings:

St. Louis	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	4	11	1
Boston	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	5	12	2

Reds Blank Dodgers.

Brooklyn, Sept. 13.—Continuing their drive for first place in the National League baseball pennant race, the Cincinnati Reds today shut out Brooklyn, 4 to 0.

Rixey held Brooklyn to four hits, while Grimes, pitching for the Dodgers, was touched for six, and his mates made one error.

Hargrave caught for Cincinnati and Hargreaves for Brooklyn.

Pirates Lose Ground.

New York, Sept. 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates again lost ground in the pennant contest in the National League today by dropping their game to New York while Cincinnati was winning from Brooklyn. The score was 9 to 5.

Today's games increase Cincinnati's lead over the Pirates to two and one-half games.

The Giants made eleven hits and made one error and the Pirates collected nine safeties and also made one error.

The Pirates used Pitchers Hill, Morrison, Koupal and Yde, while Ring and Davies performed on the mound for the Giants. Smith caught for Pittsburgh and McMullen and Florence for New York.

"Star Witness" Proves Boomerang to Govt.

Richard Merton Apparently "White Washes" Defendants in Fraud Conspiracy Hearing at New York

New York, Sept. 13—Richard Merton, German financier, so-called star government witness in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, charged with conspiracy, appeared virtually as a "white wash" witness for the defense today under cross examination.

"Did you suspect or have any knowledge that any government official received part of $441,000 retainer fee you paid John T. King for aiding your claim to the seized property of the American Metal Co.?" Col. William Rand, counsel for Miller, asked the former German army captain.

"I certainly did not," replied Merton emphatically.

Bread And Water Can't Do As Much Harm As "Hootch," Anti-Saloon League Leader Declares.

Washington, Sept. 13.—After a summer's truce, the national prohibition war flared forth anew today, with the wet and dry leaders clashing over the justice of the bread-and-water jail terms meted out to two Nebraska farmers for drinking bootleg liquor.

The bread-and-water sentences were approved by Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon League, and denounced by Capt. William H. Stayton, spokesman for the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

"Bread and water for Nebraska liquor law violators has stirred up a tempest in a teapot," Wheeler told International News Service. "Much sympathy is being wasted on bootleggers and liquor smugglers who purchase or sell their liquor in violation of the law. A little bread and water will not do as much harm to society as the poison hootch which the bootlegger sells.

"The law of Nebraska evidently gives a judge authority to sentence these liquor law violators to a bread and water diet. I have no criticism to make of the people of Nebraska if they have the fortitude to deal strictly with liquor law violators."

Charges Against Woman Evangelist Made

Mrs. Loraine Wiseman Attempts to "Whitewash" Aimee Sempel McPherson on Faked Disclosures.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept 13.—Sensational charges that Aimee Semple McPherson had paid her $300 and was to give her a total of $5,000 to fake a story of sharing a cottage with Knuth G. Ormiston at Carmel-by-the-Sea were made in an affidavit here today by Mrs. Loraine Wiseman.

Mrs. Wiseman is held by police on charges of passing worthless checks and her arrest Friday night revealed, according to police, that she perpetrated a hoax on the public by announcing she and her sister, a mythical "Miss X," and not Mrs. McPherson, radio evangelist, had occupied the seaside bungalow with the former radio operator of Angelus temple.

Minimum of 54 Degrees is Registered Here—Drizzling Rain Adds to Disagreeableness.

Blankets and top-coats were taken out of mothballs and furnaces were fired up yesterday and last night, to drive away the first chill of an approaching fall.

The frigid "spell" was accompanied by a drizzling rain—or maybe it was the rain that was accompanied by the cold. Anyway, it was damp, bad weather, and if you'll run the "damp bad" together, the statement can be made more forcible.

The thermometer registered a minimum of 54 last night, according to C. E. Wells, acting official weather observer. Saturday night's rain amounted to 1.42 inches, but the drizzle of Sunday and Sunday night contained but .07 inch of actual moisture.

SAYS PLOT BY PROLETARIAN

NO ORGANIZED ATTACK UPON MUSSOLINI

OFFICERS DISMISSED

Government Considers Police Lax on Duty—Round-Up of Anarchists and Extremists Continues

Rome, Sept. 13—"Mine was a proletarian attempt," declared Gino Lucetti today when he was grilled by the police in an effort to prove that his attempted assassination of Premier Mussolini on Saturday was the result of a widespread plot.

"If I had been supplied with funds as you suspect, I would have succeeded in my aim and also escaped," Lucetti boasted to the police.

Despite Lucetti's insistence that his act was that of an individual, the police continued to round up considerable numbers of anarchists and extremists.

Lucetti declared that he left Italy and went to France because he was exasperated with Fascistism. His mother sent him money upon which he lived in Nice and Marseilles, he said. It was while in France that he planned his attack upon the life of Mussolini.

Rome, Sept. 13—Premier Mussolini's first move as a result of the bomb attack on him Saturday has been within his own household. The government today announced that general police director Crisponancada and Sr. Pirilli, chief of police of Rome, have been dismissed.

It is understood that the government holds that these two officers were lax in their duty in permitting the attempted assassination and not failing to uncover the alleged plot which fostered the attack.

Rome, Sept. 13—Charges that a plan to destroy Italy through wiping out the life of Mussolini is afoot and is being fostered abroad are made today in the semi-official press. The newspaper making this sensational charge declared that extraordinary steps must be taken to protect Mussolini.

Il Tevre says that many parties are plotting against Italy. This newspaper charges that an anti-Fascist organization has been created in Paris and includes Free Masons, labor representatives and socialists and the Republic League with which M. Painleve, French minister of war, has been associated.

Report U. S. Gunboats Are Trapped in China

Mines Put Down By Cantonese Endanger Lives—No Action By American on Negotiations

London, Sept. 13—Dispatches from China today reported that three American gunboats were bottled inside Swatow harbor by mines laid by Cantonese forces. According to the dispatches, the American commander asked the United States legation to protest to the Peking government but inasmuch as this government has no power over the Cantonese, any protest in that direction would be futile.

Washington, Sept. 13—The United States government is participating in no negotiations with the powers for joint action in connection with the Chinese civil war and endangering foreign interests in China, high state department officials said today.

Thomas, president of the organization has called a meeting of the directors, and others interested, to be held at the Farm Bureau office, Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, to perfect plans for carrying on the work of the organization.

ROAD SIGN VANDALS.

Complaint is made of vandalism in many places which takes the curious form of destroying or altering road signs. It appears alike in the familiar twisting of street signs in cities and in the less familiar bending or complete removal of highway signs in the country, on important routes.

The result is that strangers, especially tourists, are often sent miles out of their way by a sign pointing in the wrong direction, or are left without adequate information regarding curves and other features of the road ahead.

This is a queer form of practical joke. If the funny young fellows perpetrating it were given stiff fines or jail sentences whenever they were caught, it would help to straighten out their perverted sense of humor.

If there is any intimate thing on earth that should tell the truth, it is a road sign. Tampering with it may often be comparablle to throwing a switch to derail a passeger train.

BOOTLEG INCOME TAXES.

The collector of internal revenue in Chicago is suing to collect more than $500,000 from wealthy and defiant bootleggers for profits made and not reported by them in 1922, 1923 and 1924.

Here is an inspiring spectacle. The government seeks to collect, by legal process, money made illegally, just as if the income were legitimate. The percentage demanded is the same as that expected from citizens who make their money honestly.

It might be expected that, instead of virtually legalizing such profits, the government would demand the whole of them. Congress, however, while enacting a dry enforcement law very drastic in some respects, has made no provision for that. So bootleggers, as a rule, get off so easy that they consider it a real hardship to part with their profits in any form except routine fines and bribes.

EVERYBODY'S JOB.

There isn't one man in a hundred who would say he doesn't want his town to grow and prosper and yet there are a good many who want somebody else to make it grow for their benefit.

Cities don't just happen. They are built by wide awake, public spirited citizens who are willing to give something that they may receive more. In other words they are willing to invest a little in their town which belongs to all the people who live in it and enjoy its privileges and blessings. Maryville is no different from other cities. It doesn't belong to any one man or set of men but to all the people who live here. But the stockholders in any organization must support it to make it prosperous and keep it growing.

A big town is built when all the people say, "we will make it grow, and we will do our part." And right here is the finest place in the world to build a big town.

FOR LONG LIFE.

Most recipes for long life given by those who themselves have lived to a great age are of little worth to the generality of people. But there is more than usual value in this formula, given some years ago by President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard, who died lately at the ripe age of 92, alert and useful to the last.

"Go to church," he wrote. "Keep a clean heart and a good conscience. Give your mind exercise as well as your body—really think. Exercise regularly, eat in moderation, take a full allowance of sleep. Avoid indulgence in luxuries and the habitual use of any drug whatever."

Who can beat that?

ATTORNEY GENERAL SARGENT

John Garibaldi Sargent is the only cabinet officer who doesn't blush when you ask him what are his hobbies. He is proud of them.

In fact, his hobbies are about the only subject on which the Attorney-General will talk freely. Sargent, who is six feet two in his socks and close-mouthed as any Vermonter, embodies in the flesh the "strong silent man" type attributed to his friend and chief in the White House.

But casually mention "pipes," and you will see the Attorney-General's eyes light up. For he is a collector whose pipes, gathered from a dozen countries and climes, are known by such connoisseurs everywhere.

Clocks—preferably old ones, also strike his fancy. He gathers them and spends many happy hours "tinkering" to put them in shape.

Of course he is a fisherman.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Air mail? There are at least two kinds. One is made up of just the regulation letters which are sent to their destination by planes. Another consists of notes to Mexico.

These notes which President Calles is supposed to read may go by train or plane, but they are so light, and fluffy and meaningless, they simply must be classified as "air mail."

Indications are that he is about to receive another one. President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg have talked things over with James Rockwell Sheffield, American ambassador to Mexico, who is home on his vacation.

Naturally, this calls for a note. What good it will do isn't very clear. Sheffield himself says Calles keeps right on with the same old policies.

There have been so many of these notes they are hard to keep track of, but it really isn't necessary. The same motif, "Ya gotta quit kickin' our dog aroun'," runs through all of them. None, however, mention what will happen to Calles if he doesn't quit it.

The fact is the administration is somewhat between the devil and the deep blue sea in the matter of Mexico.

On the one hand, some very large American interests in Mexico would like to see this government go to the mat with Mexico's. They want what they want by peaceful means if possible but they want it, anyway. And the administration is respectful of large interests.

On the other hand, the administration strongly suspects that what the interests want can't be secured peaceably and it doubts if violent measures, in behalf of a few interests, would be popular. The administration is mindful, also, of its popularity.

Consequently in its note-writing to Calles, it always stops a little bit short of calling his hand completely.

Some of the wealthiest communities in America do the most kicking about the weather. Probably that gives them enough interest in life to keep them healthy.

Wife Was Too Clean, Man Gets Divorce

Eighty-Year-Old Resident of Mexico, Mo., Is Happy Now—Contest Motion Overruled.

Mexico, Mo., Sept. 10.—"I'm still free," is the boast of "Uncle Bela" Hughes, 80 past, and one of the dwindling ranks of the Confederate veterans of this section.

Recently the circuit court overruled the contest motion by which Mrs. Suda Hall Hughes, 60, sought to set aside the divorce decree which "Uncle Bela" obtained from her last November. Mrs. Hughes in her motion alleged fraud and charged that "Uncle Bela" had no cause for action. In his divorce petition he charged that his wife was "too clean," and insisted on such unwonted extremes of personal cleanliness on his part that interfered with his business as a farmer.

Mrs. Hughes now denies that "at any time did she attempt to impress upon the plaintiff the customs or usages or manners of good etiquette without cause or excuse; and that never at any time did she utter a harsh word to the plaintiff, althought she might have been justified in so doing."

"Uncle Bela" had previously alleged that for a cash payment of $550, six lace curtains, "without rods" six small rugs ,two dozen chickens and "some canned fruit," he had obtained Mrs. Hughes' consent to the divorce proceeding uncontested.

In overruling her contest motion, Judge E. S. Gantt, circuit judge, denied jurisdiction of the court, since the contest motion had not been filed within four days after the granting of the decree, as required by statute. An appeal, however, has been taken from his ruling, and will be reviewed in the St. Louis court of appeals.

Describes Mussolini as a "Steam Engine"

San Francisco, Sept. 11.—"A steam-engine in breeches" is the term applied to Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, by former United States Senator James P. Phelan, who has returned to his home here after a tour of Italy.

"From Caesar to Garibaldi, there have been men in Italy who have startled succeeding generations overturning governments," said Senator Phelan. "All Italy today is moving forward with Mussolini who will only be stopped by the hand of fate, but even then his triumvirate will carry on.

"He's a steam-engine in breeches, a male Joan of Arc."

Some of the younger criminal set are insisting that it isn't fair for the law to execute three gunmen for killing one man, as it did in one of the state penitentiaries the other day.

Germany Making Great Progress

Airplanes of Special Types Being Perfected Under Serious Handicaps Caused by Peace Treaty.

By GUNTHER TONN

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

Berlin.—Since the abolition of restrictions on civilian aircraft, imposed by the treaty of Versailles, new vigor has been injected into Germany's aerial activities. Baffled in its dreams of world dominance and colonial expansion, the fatherland now hopes to realize its great remaining ambition—the conquest of the air.

The years since Versailles have not been altogether lost. There are, in fact, many experts who insist that these years of trial have been of immeasureable value to the German aid industry. The restrictions, it is asserted, compelled the designers to make the most of what was allowed them and within these narrow limits establish new principles with other nations, working on a more generous scale, never discovered.

Moreover, research work has been carried on steadily through all these years and there are now laboratories in Germany, said to be in possession of knowledge not even visualized in other countries. In addition, it may be supposed that while the actual building of aircraft was subject to restrictions, there was no effective ban on designing larger craft and that long before the limitations were lifted, carefully worked-out drawings reposed in the safes of the airplane and airship builders.

Thus well equipped, Germany is launching her career as conqueror of the air. Construction if a super-Zeppelin for the trans-Atlantic route is well under way at Friedrichshafen, and plans for a Far Eastern route via the North Pole, maintained with smaller dirigibles, are fast maturing.

It is, however, in the domain of swift airplanes that Germany hopes to rise to unchallenged supremacy. Plans have been drafted for a plane that will cover the distance Berlin-New York in ten hours. Flying at an altitude of ten miles, with resistance reduced to a minimum and out of reach of sudden squalls and air pockets, this plane is intended by its designers to regain at one swoop all the ground lost by Germany under the air restrictions of the peace treaty.

Constructed of special metal, equipped with Diesel engines, its propellers driving the plane at the rate of 350 miles an hour, through the thin atmosphere its pilots, diver-like, swathed in airtight suits and helmets, the new "strateplane" will soon emerge from the German laboratories and yards to challenge the air supremacy of France.

County Court Meets on Bridge Problem

New Structure Over 102 River at Barnard Is Discussed With Representatives of Drainage District.

Bridges and the county farm came in for more consideration at a meeting of the County Court today. The court intends to order several new spans to replace these damaged by recent high water, but the sizes and types had not been decided upon late this afternoon.

The construction of a new bridge over the new channel of the 102 river at Barnard was iscussed with Sam Smith of Barnard and another representative of the Barnard-Bolckow drainage district. Repairs are being made on the old bridge to make it passable temporarily.

At Guilford yesterday, Judge Charles Armstrong superintended repairs to the bridge over the Platte river there, making it possible for school children and others to cross but not for vehicles.

The county farm discussion was over a lighting plant, and a decision had not been reached.

More Milk Used Here Than Ever Before, Dairyman Says

The teachers at the public schools and the county health nurses are largely responsible for the increased amount of milk daily consumed by Maryville persons, Virgil Hartness, local dairyman, declared when comparing business of thirteen years ago with now.

A new delivery car, which Mr. Hartness recently put on the route, might easily be taken for a giant moving poster, with its green-painted sides and slogan, "A Quart a Day the Doctors Say."

Ten years ago, Mr. Hartness delivered twice as many pint as quart bottles. Now, he sells six quarts to every pint, he said, and a great many of the pint bottles are left along with the quarts. He believes that the day of the pint milk bottle is about over.

Thirteen years ago when Virgil Hartness, his brother, and father started in the dairy business, a half-dozen cows produced plenty of milk for the little group of customers. Some three or four buckets, a strainer, some bottles and a delivery wagon pulled by a faithful old Dobbin comprised the equipment necessary to run the dairy. In those days, Mr. Hartness said, any one with fifty dollars and fifty cents could run a dairy. Fifty dollars would buy the cow and the milk bucket could be purchased for fifty cents.

The increase in the amount of milk used by the average family has not only made a demand for a larger quantity but a better quality of milk. People have learned the difference between "just milk" and clean, pure, health-giving milk, Mr. Hartness said. Not only must the cows be healthy and properly fed and proper methods of cleanliness observed, but the milk must be freed from animal heat as soon as it is obtained and handled properly from that time until it is delivered to the customer.

When Mr. Hartness started in business for himself three years ago, twenty-five cows supplied milk for his trade. At the present time, sixty cows are required to supply the customers along his route. He delivers three hundred quarts daily besides selling cream and skimmed milk. Mr. Hartness has a modern dairy house where the milk is cooled, bottled and kept at the proper temperature until delivered. Morning's milk is delivered in the morning and evening's milk at night.

Several months ago, Mr. Hartness built an addition to his milk house. He added a built-in refrigerator. He hopes by another summer to have a frigidaire system and larger coolers.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 13.—Pennsylvania voters in the coming senatorial campaign will see the unique spectacle of an out-of-state Republican senator battling to elect a Democrat as the senator from Pennsylvania.

Senator George W. Noris, Nebraska's fighting progressive will go in Pennsylvania this fall to help elect William L. Wilson, the Democrat who is opposing William S. Vare, Republican nominee, who was the center of a senatorial investigation of election expenditures.

"That Pennsylvania primary was such a rotten and corrupt mess that I cannot remain silent and cannot refrain from doing my part in arousing the people of Pennsylvania to the opportunity that waits them to stop these huge campaign expenditures," Norris said in making the announcement of his decision.

In making his decision to help Wilson, Norris said that the Pennsylvania campaign is not one of party politics.

Church Paper Tells of Dr. James' Success in M. E. Pastorate Here

Dr. C. C. James, who leaves tomorrow for Stanberry to attend conference, has just closed his fourth year as pastor of the First M. E. Church. Last week's issue of the Central Christian Advocate had the following about the successful pastorate of Dr. James here, written by the Rev. J. Howard Thompson of Burlington Junction, who is the official reporter in this district:

One of the most successful pastorates ever closed in the Missouri Conference is just now being closed by Charles Cuthbert James, D. D., at Maryville, in the St. Joseph District, after four very delightful years. Dr. James transferred to this conference in the fall of 1918 from the St. Louis Conference, having served some of the strongest churches within the bounds of that conference, and was district superintendent one term and was stationed at Cameron, the seat of our Missouri Wesleyan College, where he served well and honorably for two years, and was then placed as pastor in our very important church at Trenton, Mo., where he had another very successful and eventful two years, after which he came to Maryville. His success here has been phenomenal. During the four years of his pastorate here he has remodeled and modernized the church building at a cost of $57,000, nearly two thirds of which has been paid, $11,000 having been paid on this indebtedness during the past year. A careful perusal of the conference minutes for the past four years will also show that this great church has given a total sum for the benevolent enterprise of the church the stately sum of nearly $20,000, in addition to all other giving, a very enviable record.

Maryville now has one of the most practical, modern, and well-equipped church buildings that can be found anywhere. It is splendidly equipped to take care of the large and growing Sunday School in the most up-to-date methods, and the social life of the young of the church, and the work and material interest in the church as looked after by the ladies' aid society have been well looked after in the way of commodious social and dining rooms and equipment. In the rebuilding the church building the official board placed in an attractive place a large memorial window, entitled, "The Women and Angels at the Tomb," in honor of Dr. and Mrs. James, which is a real distinction and marked recognition of the esteem in which the pastor and his good wife are held in the entire community.

In addition to the arduous work as preacher and pastor, which Dr. James has been compelled to do, he has held the Bible chair in the State Teachers College for two terms per year for two years. The writer has had the distinctive privilege of visiting his classes within the past year a few times and has found him very popular with the student body and his classes largely attended. As one of the results of his activities at the college he has a teachers' college student class in his Sunday School, with an average attendance of about seventy-five.

The Sunday School for the past year has averaged for the entire year 360 and has paid $30 per month for ten months on its pledge of $1,750 toward the rebuilding of the church. It will pay a like sum or nearly so to World Service fund, beside taking care of all its local expenses. The congregations that wait upon his preaching are large and interesting, and every phase of the work is alert to the interest of the Kingdom. At a recent session of the fourth quarterly conference he and his good wife, who has been a real helpmeet to him in the achievements of his work received a unanimous and hearty invitation to return another year. Maryville is to be congratulated in having Dr. James and his estimable family with him for the past four years.

Reed to Introduce Hawes at St. Joseph

Senator Also Will Make Keynote Speech at Jefferson City Tomorrow.—Party to Denounce Court?

Kansas City, Sept. 13.—Senator James A. Reed will be present at the opening of the Democratic state campaign in St. Joseph on Friday, Sept. 17, and will introduce Congressman Harry B. Hawes, who is the Democratic candidate for United States Senator.

The meeting at St. Joseph will be held in the afternoon.

As a result of a conference held in this city yesterday of the state candidates and party leaders, the Democratic meeting in Jefferson City Tuesday is expected to oppose the World Court.

Senator Reed is to make the keynote speech at the meeting in Jefferson City tomorrow.

While the platform was not discussed at the meeting yesterday, outstate leaders indicated the organizations of their respective districts were ready to "go the other way on the league," and predicted the convention would make a flat stand against the league court in the platform tomorrow.

Harry B. Hawes, the party nominee for United States senator, and Samuel W. Fordyce of St. Louis, the new chairman of the state committee, would not discuss any phase of the platform following the meeting. They declared they were leaving the platform entirely to the convention, and had met here only to make plans for the campaign, especially the opening at St. Joseph Friday night.

Outstate leaders, however, in discussing possible planks in the platform declared they expected introduction not only of an anti-league plank, but a "wet" one, too.

None would predict how far the convention might go on the league, since it is a tender subject, especially among rural Democrats. Fear of a revival of the bitter Reed-Wilson fued which led to Reed's expulsion from the 1920 convention and the refusal of the state convention to send him as a delegate to the 1924 convention has caused some outstate leaders not to yield on the league.

Mrs. Robert Gumm to Open Art Studio

Mrs. Robert Gumm, who recently completed a course of instruction at the Coover Studio at Lincoln, Neb., will open an art studio at the Yehle store next week. She will have space on the second floor, at the head of the stairs and across from the beauty parlor.

The studio will specialize in gesso, l'waquex and polychrome work, and Mrs. Gumm also will give instruction in this work. Polychrome is popular just now in picture placques, picture and mirror frames, candle sticks, lamp shades, and a more recent development is its application to work on velvet.

Mrs. Gumm expects to open the studio on September 22.

Sunday Matinee Is Attended by Many

Movie Fans Spend Afternoon at Missouri Theater Yesterday—Brave Rain To Attend.

That many residents of Maryville approve of Sunday afternoon entertainments was shown by the very good attendance at the matinee yesterday afternoon at the Missouri Theatre. Nearly one thousand persons saw the picture, "The Last Frontier" at that matinee which was the first ever held on Sunday in this city.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, hundreds of persons walked through a drizzling rain to the theater while others, fortunate enough to own closed cars, rode to the uptown section. Because of the muddy roads theater-goers from the rural districts and from towns in this section were unable to attend the matinee.

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G.P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in an elaborte bungalow, lived PERRY HEATH and his wife, MYRA.

At the time the story opens the Heaths were entertaining as house guests:

LAWRENCE INMAN, a distant relative of Myra's and, aside from Perry, the only heir to her considerable fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of Myra's.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She was cold, sarcastic. She did not love her husband, but seemed enamored of Inman. She never used cosmetics or dressed in colors. In fact, her hatred of color amounted to a passion. She collected rare old bottles and her latest was a whisky bottle which she was quite proud of but which aroused her artistic husband to scorn.

There is a growing intimacy between Perry Heath and Bunny. Myra, becoming provoked, declares that she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting Perry off.

That night, after Bunny and Inman retire, Myra Heath alludes mysteriously to Perry's "secret." When Perry goes to bed, Inman comes down stairs, and he and Myra are discovered in each other's arms later by Perry.

The next morning, Mrs. Prentiss, who lives next door, was telling her nephew, Todhunter Buck, of some mysterious lights she had seen the night before in the Heath bungalow. While they are talking a loud scream from the Heath home interrupts their conversation.

And for once, the girl failed to show an alert interest at the sight of a strange and good-looking young man.

That night Perry Heath, stealing downstairs, discovers his wife in Inman's arms and orders the latter out of the house by morning.

The next day the body of Myra Heath is found in the studio by a servant. A candle is burning at her head and feet, there is a big cut in her head and, strangest of all, her face is made up with cosmetics and she is dressed in outlandish colors.

HERRICK, the butler, after calling the doctor, steals some money from a drawer near the body and then discovers, at Myra's feet, a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath."

The doctor, when he comes, finds that the death blow was struck with Myra's cherished whisky bottle. It is discovered then that Perry Heath is gone, his bed unslept in.

The coroner conducts an examination, and it develops that Perry Heath has disappeared during the night, in spite of the fact that windows and doors had been locked on the inside. When Inman and Bunny Moore are questioned they both exhibit an unusual degree of nervousness.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX.

The Harbor Country Club was over on the Park side, but its members included many of the Gardens people as well.

A few of the less active spirits hobnobbed on the porch and smoked, as they somewhat conservately discussed the Heath tragedy.

Yet few of the exaggerated accounts could be much worse than the true statements of the awful occurrence.

"Where is Perry Heath?" was the question urged even more frequently than "Who killed Myra?"

Arthur Black, one of the solid men of the club, declared that it was impossible that the murderer should be other than the husband.

"The Heaths were by no means turtle doves," was the way he put it. "And, even recognizing the rights of the dead to nil nisi bonum, our Myra was a saint in looks only."

"She sure looked like one, though," said Wallace Forbes, an artist from the Gardens, whose bungalow-studio was not far from the Heaths' own."

"Too pale and wan for my taste," remarked Sam Anderson, who was a true representative of the Park type, smiling, bald-headed, and with a missing eyetooth, he gave the impression of being more interested in women of the earth, earthy, than in the Myra Heath sort. But he was a prominent clubman, and was about to run for president.

"The disappearance of Heath clinches your election, Anderson," Black declared, but the other answered:

"I'm not keen to be elected. And, anyway, Heath will come back,—he must. To my mind, his absence is no indication at all that he killed his wife. Why should he? Maybe, as you say, Black, the pair were not exactly lovey-dovey, but few married people are, nowadays. Yet it doesn't lead to murder. You'll have to find a bigger motive than mere incompatibility before I'll believe that Heath killed his wife. What about that young chap, her cousin, or whatever he is?"

"Larry Inman?" said Forbes.

"Yes, he's her cousin,—a distant one, I think. But why should he murder her?"

"He's her heir," put in Black, who always knew all about everybody's business affairs, "there's motive; but, on the other hand, I've heard he was in love with the pale goddess."

"Did you hear that when they found her dead, she was all rouged and made up—eyebrows pencilled and all?"—this from Anderson, who was a bit of a gossip.

"Yes, and beside that, there was a red sash tie around her," Black asserted. "And candles burning at her head and feet."

Al Cunningham, who just then joined the group, said: "I'm going to the inquest this afternoon. Wonder if Heath will be back for it?"

"You speak as if he had just stepped out on an errand," Black objected. "Why, man, he is the criminal,—the murderer,—and he made his getaway. He'll never come back."

"Do you know Heath?" demanded Forbes of Anderson.

"Not intimately at all, but I know him slightly. I've seen him here at the club occasionally. I've never been to his house."

"Then you don't really know him. He's not a man of fierce passions or angry impulses. If he sensed trouble from Inman's attentions to Mrs. Heath, he wouldn't kill either of them, he'd put the young man out of his house and merely shake his finger at his wife. I live over there, you know, and I'm acquainted with the whole bunch. There's a baby down there, who's about as pert a little parcel as often comes. Name of Bunny, and I believe she's somewhat gone on Perry herself."

"Oh, well, then there's your motive," Cunningham cried. "Intense natured artist, tired of his marble Galatea of a wife, turns to baby doll for relief. Falls desperately in love with the kid, and decides that the line of least resistance is to put Friend Wife out of the way. Does so, and skips. He won't return—but the little girl will follow at the proper time."

"Maybe," said Black, "but I'm not going to the inquest. Sit all afternoon in a hot, stuffy place, only to have the thing adjourned, or, at most, to hear an open verdict."

"I'm not going, either," Anderson stated. "Oh, if I do, I'll just look in for a moment, and stick to the back of the room, so I can get out easily. Coroners are fearfully long-winded. And we'll get the whole proceedings from the papers. The New York papers will feature this, as it's really a bizarre case."

Meanwhile the Heath home was in a turmoil.

The police were in charge. Both Bunny and Larry, as well as the servants were forbidden to leave the place.

The body of Myra, still in its beautiful but strange condition, lay where it was found, and must remain there until viewed by the Coroner's jury.

The studio was guarded by a policeman who sat just outside the closed door. The lounge was full of bustling people, who, with more or less authority, fussed around inquisitively.

Mrs. Prentiss, presuming on her importance as the nearest neighbor, came over, with a face appropriately long and a manner appropriately solemn, to offer help of any sort in her power.

Bunny refused to see her at first, but on a more insistent message the girl went reluctantly from her room downstairs to greet the caller.

Her blue eyes showed traces of tears, and her lips quivered as she came toward Mrs. Prentiss.

And for once, the girl failed to show an alert interest at the sight of a strange and good-looking young man.

For Todhunter Buck had accompanied his aunt, partly as escort, but more from a desire to see Bunny herself.

Nor was he disappointed. He told himself on the spot, that she was the loveliest girl he had ever seen and was the one girl in the world for him, and many such decisions and asservations.

Bunny acknowledged his introduction with absent-minded politeness and asked them to come with her to a small morning room back of the dining room, where they could talk in more seclusion.

"Who is here? Who is looking after you?" demanded Mrs. Prentiss, with her usual brusqueness.

"Nobody," said Bunny, "I am all alone. I'd go home, but the police won't let me. I haven't sent word to my people about this yet—of course, they'll see it when it gets into the papers—but it's all so terrible—so awful that I couldn't bring myself to write about it, and I just couldn't telephone!"

"No, no, of course not, my dear. But you can't stay here alone—haven't you heard a word from Mr. Heath?"

"Not a word." Bunnys' face turned rosy pink, but her voice was calm and steady. "I can't imagine where he went or what's keeping him away."

"Who is in charge here?"

"That's what everybody asks. Why, nobody's in charge, exactly. Mr. Inman is, in some ways, and of course, the servants keep the house running just as usual. I see a few of Myra's friends, but not all of them—I just can't!"

"Of course you can't, put in Toddy Buck, with real sympathy. "It oughtn't to be expected of you."

"You must come over and stay with me," Mrs. Prentiss ordained, and her nephew's heart leaped for joy.

"Oh, no, I can't do that," Bunny said. "The police won't let me leave this house; and when they do, I shall, of course, go straight home.

"And too, I think I must look over Myra's things a little. There's no one else to do it, and a woman ought to go over her desk and—and such things."

"Yes, yes—of course," Mrs. Prentiss spoke a little vaguely. "But my house is open to you, my dear, and I'm sure when you think it over, you will see it would be wise for you to come over there."

"I expect Mr. Heath home at any minute," Bunny said. "I shan't make any plans until he comes."

"But he may not come at all," Mrs. Prentiss began and stopped suddenly as she saw the grief and horror on Bunny's face.

And unable to bear up any longer, Bunny put her head down on the kind hearted woman's shoulder, and cried softly.

USING A GYMNASIUM TO BUILD HEALTH

A Person Living a Sedentary Life Can Get Great Good From a Daily Workout Which Opens Pores of the Skin.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

In my mail I found a publication, put out by the Washington City Club. To advertise and popularize the gymnasium, this little newspaper contained a column, headed "Exercise." It is so good I want to give you a few extracts. Here they are:

"Health is the result of forming right habits of eating, exercise and recreation."

Healthy people are an asset to the community and sick people a liability."

A long sermon could be preached on these statements. Think of the economic waste associated with a given illness. A man with typhoid fever will lose two or three months of his own useful service to the community.

Through much of this period, the full time of two nurses must be employed. To feed and care for their laundry, as well as that of the patient, another person will be fully occupied.

The wife, mother, or sister of the patient will hover over his bed, striving to increase his comfort. Heartaches and anxiety will lessen the efficiency of all the immediate family.

It is indeed true that sick people are a material and emotional liability to the community.

Here are two more quotations from the Gymnasium column:

"The human body was made for action, and it has other muscles than those that wag the tongue or move the pen."

"The efficiency of the muscles determines the efficiency of the mind. The muscles are the great health builders and stabilizers. Muscle tone can be secured in the Gym Class if you want to go after it."

Most of my readers are too busy in active fields to need to go to the gymnasium. They are physically active now. But if they are in sendentary jobs and can get no active exercise otherwise, I say by all means that the gymnasium is the place for them.

Right habits of eating and of recreation are not in themselves sufficient. In addition, there must be systematic and somewhat strenuous exercise. There must be "honest sweat" every day, or the body suffers.

To make the skin do its full share in eliminating poisons there must be daily exercise.

Lawyers, statesmen, teachers, newspapermen—all persons indeed who "wag the tongue or move the pen," to quote the column,—must bear in mind that the muscles of the tongue and hand can prosper only when the muscles of the body are cared for as they should be.

Neither can there be clearness of intellect, or "efficiency of the mind," unless all the muscles of the body are kept in condition. It is the duty of all of us to order our lives in such manner as to guarantee muscle tone.

Texas Legislature in Special Session

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's Call For Extraordinary Session Is Answered Today.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 13.—The Texas legislature convened in extraordinary session today at the call of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to validate road district bonds.

The call was issued late in July by Governor Ferguson, who at the same time tendered her resignation as Governor following her overwhelming defeat by Attorney-General Dan Moody in the first primary for renomination. Later withdrawing the resignation, the woman executive entered the second run-off primary against Moody and was again defeated.

Governor Ferguson presented several matters in her special call, but Democratic leaders consider validation of the road bonds will be the chief object of the session and that other matters may be entirely ignored.

Texas district road bonds were placed under a cloud by the United States Supreme Court decision in the Archer County case which involved approximately $75,000,000 worth of such bonds throughout Texas.

To make certain that the bonds will be legally validated, separate special road laws for each of the several hundred districts affected will be introduced. The Texas Highway Association has taken a leading part in looking after the detailed work of preparing the forms for the bills and their required publication.

The Supreme Court decision affecting the Texas road district bonds affected similar bond issues in Missouri, Oklahoma and other states.

Weather Interfered With a Celebration

Inclement weather made it impossible for many persons to attend the Catholic Day celebration which was scheduled to be held at Conception yesterday and as a result no program was given. Speakers, including the Rev. Felix, of the St. Mary's Church of this place, were unable to get to the meeting because of the muddy roads.

Dinner was served at noon to the persons, at the Parish Hall in Conception.

Integrity of Purpose

The far-reaching importance of the cracking processes discovered and developed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is emphasized in a recent information circular published by the United States Bureau of Mines.

"According to the best information available, about 26% of the gasoline output of the refineries for 1925 was produced from heavier oils by cracking. This represents a production of approximately 2,824,000,000 gallons of gasoline by the use of cracking processes."

A brief review of recent history will reveal the significance of this colossal achievement.

As far back as 1913 when there were only one and a quarter million automobiles in the country, men who were well informed began to worry about the supply of crude oil.

With a rapid increase in the number of automobiles would the available crude oil be sufficient to produce an adequate amount of gasoline?

That was the question which experts were asking. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) answered it by discovering and developing its famous processes for cracking gasoline. For in the research laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) where the patient and tireless work of scientists goes on day after day, the first commercially successful cracking process was discovered.

This new method was a spectacular discovery for it stretched the supply of crude, producing double the yield of gasoline obtained by the old methods.

The cracking processes belonged to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by right of discovery and might have been kept for its exclusive use.

Such a practice, however, would have been contrary to the established policies of this Company, and such procedure would have been opposed to the economic good of the people of the Middle West and therefore was not to be considered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Without a widespread use of the new cracking processes to stretch the supply of crude, refiners would have been unable to meet the growing demand for gasoline and prices would have soared.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) from the beginning has held the interest of the people whom it serves first, and in a consistent spirit of service the Company leased these processes to competitors, that they, too, might better aid in meeting the demand for gasoline.

The immediate result of this action was a sufficient output of gasoline at continued low prices.

Today the fact that fuel for nearly 21,000,000 automotive vehicles is forthcoming at a low and equitable price is due in large measure to the processes discovered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The action of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in passing on these valuable processes to competitors is but one practical evidence of the sincerity and earnestness with which the Company endeavors to serve the thirty million people of the Middle West.

Operation Changes Roosters to Hens

Stockholm—How hens can be turned into roosters and male guinea pigs into hermaphrodites was demonstrated at the World Congress of physiologists, just closed here, by two French scientists. Professors Cardroit and Pezard who spoke before an assembly of colleagues in the Stockholm city hall.

After a certain operation the hens begin laying eggs and begin to crow. By other experiments the two scholars had transformed hens into a mixture of half hen and half rooster, so that certain feathers were half those of one sex and half the other. Among birds the male tendency predominates, the two lecturers said, while among mammals, the female qualities are the stronger.

"Hindenburg Crop" Is Latest Shingle

Geneva—The latest thing in women's hair-cuts is the "Hindenburg crop."

Several of the prettiest girls in Geneva, after a period of discreet seclusion, have now appeared with their hair cropped and stiffy pompadoured a la the German general. The effect is startling, but for some faces not so severe as it sounds.

The fashion was started by a Basle hairdresser.

Brother of King Has Motor Studio

Prince Eugene of Sweden Travels In Special Built Motor-Car While On Painting Tours.

London—Prince Eugene of Sweden brother of the Swedish King, has brought his motor-studio to London, after a landscape-painting tour in Italy in the vehicle. He is an accomplished artist, and his work filled four rooms at a recent exhibition of the work of Swedish artists in Stockholm. But he has consistently refused, due to shyness, to hold an exhibition in London.

His motor-studio was especially designed by him and built to his order. It is a complete little building, with sleeping and living quarters included. It has a large studio window and can be "parked" at beauty spots to give the perpetual northern light by which the artist works.

Klans Are Gathering in Capital for Meet

National Klonvocation and Parade To Be Held In Washington Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The klans of the Ku Klux Klan are advancing on the national capital for their greatest meeting of the year, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 13, 14 and 15.

By motor and train, the members of the order are converging from many states, estimates of the probable attendance ranging from 5,000 to 100,000. The occasion is the third biannual "klonvocation" of the order, and the meeting, to which state and national klan leaders have been invited, is announced as "purely of business nature."

Many thousands of klansmen, however, will attend unofficially, and a parade will be staged, which may reach the tremendous proportions of one held here at last year's huge regional klan meeting here.

One of the principal items of business to be transacted is the selection of an Imperial Wizard as world leader of the order. Hiram Wesley Evans, who has held this position several years, has been recommended for re-election by a recent Chicago meeting of Imperial Officers. Grand Dragons and other klan officers, and he probably will be named for the position without much opposition.

It was first planned to hold this meeting at Philadelphia, in the course of a klan demonstration as a part of the Independence Sesqui-centennial celebration, but Philadelphia authorities were inhospitable to the plans for a huge national meeting in connection with the "klonvocation."

Extra police will be placed on duty, it is expected, for the period of the celebration, and for the parade. The parade permit allows the klansmen to parade in uniforms, except that all of the visors must be lifted to show the klansmen's faces.

Father Asks Extra Sentence for Son

Young Man Arrested for Speaking Against Premier Mussolini Hailed Into Court.

Turin—Signor Augusto Montanaro begged authorities to give his son another eight days in prison for filial misconduct, when the young man was charged before the magistrate for uttering words offensive to Premier Mussolini.

Giovanni Montanaro, drinking freely with some companions in an inn, was liberal with invective against the Duce. He was hailed before the court to be judged under the new law which makes it a special offense to say anything derogatory of the Prime minister.

The boy's father, an ardent Fascist, wrote a letter to the magistrate, saying "whatever may be the well merited punishment you inflict on Giovanni, I beg you to give him another eight days on my account."

Valley Teams Have Very Good Schedules

Football Games This Fall Should Be Of Best Brand—Matches With Out-Side Elevens.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 13.—Missouri Valley football elevens have taken on some tough assignments outside their own conference for the coming gridiron season. Included among the outside elevens which will face valley teams are: Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Marquette, Southern California, Texas, Arkansas, Tulane, West Virginia, New York University, University of Washington and the U. S. Marines.

Drake University of Des Moines has bitten off the biggest slice. The Des Moines eleven will take on the Navy, Notre Dame and Mississippi, besides five strong valley teams.

Grinnell and Penn, Simpson and Marquette, besides five valley teams, on her schedule.

Iowa State will oppose the University of Southern California at Los Angeles on Turkey Day as the only outside eleven. On the same day Nebraska will play on the coast. The Huskers and the Washington Huskies will battle in Seattle to try to settle the supremacy which remained undecided in a tie game at Lincoln last fall. In addition the Huskiers will take on a New York University on the Saturday before Thanksgiving. Six Valley schools are on the Huskers schedule and seven on the Ames slate.

Kansas will oppose Wisconsin, while the Kansas Aggies will take on Texas, Creighton, Arkansas and Marquette.

Missouri, last years champions of the Valley circle, have three outside elevens to face this fall. Tulane, Southern Methodist University and West Virginia will meet the Tigers besides five Valley teams.

Oklahoma has Arkansas and six Valley teams on her schedule while the Oklahoma Aggies have, in addition to four Valley schools, Kansas Normal, Texas Christian, Southwestern Teachers and Arkansas.

Washington University of St. Louis has six Valley schools, besides Missouri Mines and the Marines, on its schedule.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Sept. 13—Grain prices slumped on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Wheat closed sharply lower in all positions while other cereals lost good fractions.

Buying power was slack in the wheat pit so that prices tumbled to 2 to 2½ cents rather early in the session.

Northwestern weather conditions are much more favorable to the movement of the new crop, and Winnipeg expects to report the receipt of 1,200 cars tomorrow morning.

There was virtually no export demand, not even on the dips; yet cash prices were steady and unchanged.

NODAWAY COUNTY FARM NEWS

By BILLY TILSON.

J. W. Tillman of Riverton, Ia., A. M. Ashford and wife, Thurman Ashford and wife and daughter, Betty Lou, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Workman the latter part of last week. Mr. Tillman is the father of Mrs. Workman and Mrs. Ashford.

John Davis and wife, southeast of Hopkins, were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Robert Goforth, in Maryville Saturday. Mr. Davis thinks the damage to corn will not be as heavy as thought after the heavy wind and rains. He says pastures are making a great growth.

A force of men were at work Saturday repairing the bridge across the drainage ditch just west of Barnard. They have a pile driver in action and in a few days expect to have the bridge safe for crossing.

Otis McNeal and Charles Yahmark of Maryville, were looking after business interests in Maryville Saturday. They say that pastures, which were very badly burnt, are now growing rapidly and will make late fall pasture for stock and say you get some good out of the bad.

Jess Dowden, northeast of Maryville, who was trying, between the showers last week to get his clover hulled reports it making a good yield. He also says the price received is satisfactory.

Mr. J. N. Otis and wife, southeast of Hopkins, arrived home a few days ago from Annapolis, Md., where they have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. M. T. Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell is paymaster for the Navy and is stationed at that place. Mr. and Mrs. Otis motored through in their automobile and report a fine trip. They were gone for about four weeks. J. N. says he went through some real country but Nodaway County beats them all.

Alfred Jones, southwest of Maryville, has a fine load of big Chester White hogs that are ready for the market. They are of his own raising and should sell around the top.

William Needles and family, northeast of Ravenwood, were shopping in Maryville Saturday. Mr. Needles says the creeks over his way did quite an amount of damage. He says pastures are getting good and growing rapidly.

Floyd VanVelson and Darl Porter of the Harmony district were among those who visited in Maryville Saturday.

Hugh Nickols, William Myers, L. C. Golding, Harve Thompson, Will Booth, Warren Hull and Roll Linville, all east of Quitman, were Maryville visitors Saturday. They report the fall pastures making a good growth and say stock has started to put on pounds.

Allen Haller and wife, Purl Shell and wife, west of Wilcox, were visiting in Maryville Saturday evening.

County Passes Week Without Trust Deeds

In the list of transfers, mortgages and other instruments affecting the title to real and personal property in Gentry county, furnished by the Holden Abstract Co., no trust deeds are listed for this week. This is the first time this has happened for years. D. D. Kingsborough, who has been in the abstract business in this county for forty-three years says it has not happened since he can remember.—Albany Ledger.

Bank at New Franklin Closed by Directors

Had Resources Of $83,000—No Reason Is Given For Suspnsion Of Business.

Jefferson City, Sept. 13.—The Franklin State Bank at Franklin, Howard County, with resources of $83,000, was closed today by its board of directors, according to a message received by state finance commissioner C. E. French. It was the forty-second bank to close in Missouri since January 1. The board of directors gave no reason for closing the bank. They asked the finance department to take charge at once.

The bank had $10,000 capital. It's latest statement showed $2,000 surplus, $66,000 loans, $60,000 deposits. R. E. Moon is president and F. A. Temple cashier of the closed bank.

Three Cities Raise Funds for Factories

Moberly Seeks $250,000, Chillicothe $75,000—Cape Girardeau Gives $400,000 for Bridge

Chillicothe is waging a campaign to raise $75,000 to get the Menzies Shoe Co., of Fond du Lac, Wis., to locate a factory there. A committee of Chillicothe business men made a trip to Fond du Lad to make an investigation of the company.

Moberly is starting a campaign to raise $250,000 in what is known as an expansion drive for the purpose of getting factories in that city.

Cape Girardeau just Friday finished a campaign where they raised nearly $400,000 for a bridge across the Mississippi river at that city.

Rev. Mitchell Talks to M. H. S. Students

Reviews Accomplishments of Famous Men and Says Their Success Was Due to Vision

Speaking on the subject of "Wisdom" the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the Methodist Church, South, addressed the student body of the Maryville High School in weekly assembly this morning.

The minister illustrated that vision was the fruit of time of serious thought by reviewing the accomplishments of Millet in his "The Angelus," Lew Wallace in his "Ben Hur," and Handel in "The Messiah."

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell pointed out that long,hard serious thought, courage and sticking to the task were the essential attributes to the power of vision.

Enough Crops to Supply the Demand

Washington, Sept. 13.—Farmers this fall will again face the perplexing surplus crop problem despite a smaller agriculture harvest this year, except for a few staple commodities and fruits, agricultre reports show.

Short and long crops about balance, making the commodities of all crops less than two per cent below a ten year average. This ratio will supply the domestic demand and leave huge quantities for export.

Because of this situation the surplus problem probably will be brought up at the next session of congress. Leading farm organizations have indicated they will demand legislature to assist in solving the surplus problem.

The agriculture industry, however, is better organized this year, than ever before, to handle surpluses.
